DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cheng et al.

Cheng et al teaches a method for polishing a wafer which is polished by continuously driving a surface late, 101, on which a plurality of polishing pads, 201, made of polyurethane foam, (col. 4, lines 38-39), are stuck, the surface of each pads being provided with a plurality of grooves each extending linearly in the drive direction of the pad, wherein in the sticking step, the polishing pads are stuck on the surface of the plate, (col.5, lines 49-60), in such a manner that the grooves of each of the polishing pads are spaced not to align with the respective grooves of the polishing pad adjacently arranged in the drive direction and therefore are offset by a predetermined distance form the grooves of the polishing pad adjacently arranged, (fig. 5. if the mosaic pads are placed adjacent to each other, the grooves will not align). Cheng et al. also teaches a plurality of grooves extending linearly in the drive direction of the polishing pad which are formed over the entire width, at regular intervals, from edge to edge of the polishing pad in the direction perpendicular to the drive direction, (figs. 4a and 4b).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 12/22/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The applicant has added the limitation that the grooves are extending linearly in the drive direction. In reference to claim 1, the grooves, 503, of fig. 5, have a linear component that extends in the drive direction. The same goes for the grooves, 410, of fig. 4a. (col. 4, lines 22-30), in reference to claim 4.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
